Former Chap Pitcher Henderson Joins MLB Brewers

Chaparral Baseball

July 31, 2012

Midland, TX

After a 10-year stint in the minor leagues former MC Chap pitcher Jim Henderson joined the Milwaukee Brewers up from AAA Nashville. Henderson a native of Calgary, Alberta, Canada played for the Chaps for two seasons beginning in the 2000-2001 season.

While at MC, Henderson played for former coach Steve Ramharter and was a part of the inaugural class at the inception of the program. Following his time in Midland, Henderson moved on to Tennessee Wesleyan College. He was selected by the, now defunct, Montreal Expos in the 26th round of the 2003 MLB draft.

Following his draft, Henderson successfully ran the gauntlet through Rookie ball, Short A, Full A, Double A, to AAA Nashville to his call to Milwaukee on July 27th.

Henderson is the first-ever former Midland College Chap baseball player to advance to the Majors.
